Picture description

Fresh ingredients for cooking and living – combined with the basalt graphite effect worktops and recess decor, the modern shaker-style fronts with a forest green satin finish are a delight for the senses. The special qualities of this kitchen become apparent when we take a closer look at the details. Behind its grey glass doors, the illuminated tall glass display unit draws attention to designer accessories and kitchen utensils.

Alongside it hides another highlight in the form of the multi-functional top unit – also known internationally as the breakfast cupboard – which makes you feel like you're on a mini getaway at breakfast. Its storage cupboard keeps everything you need to prepare a quick meal organised and close at hand – also available with optional internal lighting upon request. A practical pull-out shelf in lava black offers additional storage and preparation space. But that's not all as the sink unit built into the island with its two pull-outs also provides plenty of space for the sink as well as waste separation.

Material description

Newport | 5-part satin lacquer shaker-style front, available in 28 colours

Satin lacquer is available in several visually pleasing shades. The water-based dual cure lacquer system with UV drying doesn't just satisfy ecological requirements, it also ensures remarkable durability. The subtly textured, matt velvet surface is extremely easy to maintain.

Front thickness: 19 mm

Further information

Inspired by the British style with a mantel or recess projection directly on the oven and handleless fronts and illuminated by a wide variety of LED solutions, this kitchen playfully combines traditional – and modern elements.
